FILMS AND SESSION TIMES.

Eaglehawk Film Festival is an annual film festival with a difference - each year curated around a unique theme. 2024 is Angelic!

What is an angel? Dictionary definitions range from a spiritual being, a guardian spirit, a person who is kind, pure, or beautiful, to a term of endearment or even simply a name or nickname. In the world of film, all of these are explored in a variety of ways. A versatile term which in its many forms has been called upon time and again since the early days of cinema.

For 2024, we have put together a selection of films from all over the world that explore angels in all their guises via a range of genres from 1937 right up to 2018.

FRI 12 8pm

ANGEL

(2007, M) France, Belgium, UK. Romance, Drama.
Dir: François Ozon
Angel Deverell comes of age in Edwardian Cheshire knowing she will be a great writer. Rising above her class (her widowed mother has a grocery shop), Angel finds a publisher and a wide audience for her frothy romances. With royalties, she buys an estate, then she's smitten by Esme, a rake from local aristocracy and an artist of dark temperament. She hires Esme's sister Nora, who dotes on her, as a personal assistant, and pursues Esme.

Angel is grandly self-centred, colouring her world as if it were one of her novels. When the Great War breaks out and reality begins to trump her will, can Angel hold on to her man and her public?

Inspired by the life of Marie Corelli. An all-star cast: Romola Garai, Sam Neill, Charlotte Rampling and Michael Fassbender.

SAT 13 1pm
